It's not often that I see a map that feels good and plays smooth. So what does DM-Challenge offer you ask, well for starters it looks small till you get into the game and find that there is alot of area to be had for fragging.

It's not often that I see a map that feels good and plays smooth. So what does DM-Challenge offer you ask, well for starters it looks small till you get into the game and find that there is alot of area to be had for fragging.

Match play can be had from everywhere in this first picture, outside the walls, the first ringed wall both on top and in the hall below, than moving into the courtyard and then the main building that btw is two story also. Now the fragging does not stop there if you look at the first picture you see two water wells so you think, wrong just drop down into either one pickup some ammo and then hit the jump pad at the far end and out you come again.

The map is blessed with jump pads, doors and lifts. weapon placement can be found everywhere and a suprise in the upper level of the building. The same goes for health and shields also. Snipping spots well just look at the picture small windows from the second floors the hallway under the ringed wall is not exposed a whole lot and the same goes for the building, doors that open have room on either side to slide over and let someone running out the door pass you by that is if you let him.

I give this map the highest star, for the fact that it played so well, looked good even though it did not have alot of flare it just was a treat to play without bogging down my pc.

This map can be found at NaliCity .
